Yet again, I am very pleased to thank scholars who sent in references, and hope they will not mind my not mentioning them individually. As with so many bibliographies in this Centre for Idealism and the New Liberalism working paper series, I owe a particularly significant debt to Peter Nicholson for identifying publications that I missed. I only am responsible for the remaining errors. As always, I would be very grateful if readers could help to fill the identified gaps and to let me know of any undetected errors. Future versions will acknowledge these contributions in the relevant Acknowledgement pages.

This version of the bibliography is made available free-of-charge to everyone, under the terms of the Creative Commons. Access is allowed to anyone who does not make any commercial profit from it, who does not alter it, and who acknowledges its source as a product of Colin Tyler under the auspices of the Centre for Idealism and the New Liberalism at the University of Hull, UK. All rights are retained by Colin Tyler, in order to protect it as a contribution to the common good of the scholarly community.

The work on these bibliographies was supported by a Resource Enhancement Award (B/RE/AN3141/APN17357) from the Arts and Humanities Research Board.

arts and humanities research board

‘The Arts and Humanities Research Board (AHRB) funds postgraduate and advanced research within the UK’s higher education institutions and provides funding for museums, galleries and collections that are based in, or attached to, HEIs within England. The AHRB supports research within a huge subject domain - from ‘traditional’ humanities subjects, such as history, modern languages and English literature, to music and the creative and performing arts.’

I have also profited enormously from having access to the Brynmor Jones Library at the University of Hull, a resource which benefits from an excellent stock of written and electronic sources, as well as extremely helpful and friendly librarians. My thanks also go to Dr Christopher Bearman, the research assistant on this and other projects. William Sweet helped with references to William Wallace’s writings. Peter Nicholson has provided many additional references for both bibliographies. The remaining deficiencies are my responsibility alone.

I wish to thank Philip de Bary for permission to reproduce the 'Reviews & Obituaries' sections for Stirling and Wallace, both of which appear in Colin Tyler, ed., Early Reviews and Responses to the British Idealists: Volume 1 (London: Thoemmes Continuum, 2004), pp.247-251 and 243-245, respectively.
