

Palmer, H. (2024). Gregory Bateson, Fourfold Vision and the Myth of Power: A Double Bind that Encourages Creativity and Wisdom. (Thesis by Publication). University of Hull.

Published Works:

- Palmer, H. (2014). Steps towards fourfold vision: From the myth of power to a cybernetic unity of healing. Context 135, Warrington: AFT. <https://www.aft.org.uk/page/Context2014>
- Palmer, H. (2016) Fourfold vision and cybernetic unity: Therapist as scientist, theorist, humanist and artist. In McCarthy, I. & Simon, G. (Eds.) (2016). Systemic Therapy as Transformative Practice. Farnhill: Everything is Connected Press. <https://eicpress.com/statp.htm>
- Palmer, H. (2017). Fourfold Vision in Practice: Data, Theory, Intuition and the Art of Therapy. Human Systems: The Journal of Therapy, Consultation and Training. 28(1), 21-39.
- Palmer, H. (2021). Where did the Eco go in Systemic Practice? Murmurations: Journal of Transformative Systemic Practice, 4(1), 1-12. <https://doi.org/10.28963/4.1.2>
- Palmer, H. (2022). "Think different" to prevent extinction. Connecting Gregory Bateson's Cybernetic Epistemology with Posthumanism. Murmurations: Journal of Transformative Systemic Practice, 5(2), 14-27. <https://doi.org/10.28963/5.2.3>
- Palmer, H. (2022) Systemic thinking and the myth of power. Feedback: Journal of the Family Therapy Association of Ireland. 2022, 32-41.